

Name _____

Date _____

Write a concluding sentence for the following paragraph.

Is a sponge a plant or an animal? These amazing underwater creatures are animals! An invertebrate is an organism without a backbone and sponges fall into this group. Eating is no problem for a sponge because water moves through it and the sponge just filters out the tiny particles of food in the water. Breaking in half is not a crisis for a sponge because a new sponge will grow from both pieces! Unlike Sponge Bob Squarepants, real sponges do not get around much at all because they attach themselves to one place and stay there. There are many different types of beautiful and colorful sponges. Sometimes, sponges grow into strange shapes and gigantic sizes like the barrel sponge, which can grow large enough to fit a person inside of it!

C.S. _____

Unscramble these fun facts about sponges to make sentences.

oldest one are animals sponges of the shelter some use animals as sponges
